MIGRANT COMMUNITY IN ARTS

DIGITAL TUTORIAL

Integrating into a new place is a multidimensional and complicated process.

According to the definition provided by the European Commission, Integration can be defined as a two-way process of mutual adaptation between migrants and the societies in which they live, where migrants are incorporated into the social, economic, cultural, and political life of the receiving community.

In other words, integration is a mutual, dynamic, multi-faceted and on-going process. It involves the conditions for and actual participation of the migrants in all aspects of the economic, social, cultural, civil, and political life of the host country. It is the process by which migrants become a part of their new community, without losing their own cultural heritage or identity.
